South Viet Nam Tribes In Revolt

SAIGON (UPI) — A tribal rebellion spread through the South Vietnamese central highlands today and at least one American Special Forces camp was reported in rebel hands.

Government troops were moving in to crush the revolt. News of the rebellion broke just after informed sources disclosed that the United States has begun B52 bomber strikes against the Communist supply corridor through neighboring, nominally neutral Laos.

The revolt began late Friday night when mountain tribesmen seized Gia Nghia, capital of Quang Duc Province about 110 miles northeast of Saigon, without firing a shot.

Rebellion Spreads
Today the revolt spread to Pleiku and Pho Bon provinces and possibly to other areas.

"There has been fighting in numerous areas between the government and rebel forces and casualties thus far are considerable," government sources said.

Tribesmen rebelled in at least three Special Forces camps.

One, located at La Thien, fell to the rebels.

The situation at the other two camps, at Plei Mrong and Plei Djereng in Pleiku Province, remained unclear.

Many of the Special Forces camps the United States has established in the central mountains employ hill tribesmen as scouts and strike forces to harass the Communists.

The rebels, or at least some part of them, were believed using American-supplied weapons.

Early today it was reported the tribesmen had lowered their flag at Gia Nghia and agreed to negotiate. But later reports indicated that fighting could break out any moment.

Bui Diem, ranking political adviser to Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, said the central government has not been informed the rebels' political demands, but it was assumed they want to set up a separate mountain state.

Diem said Ky has flown to the general area of the rebellion. He did not know whether the premier planned to take part in negotiations with the rebels.

There are about 521,000 tribespeople, belonging to roughly twenty separate groups, inhabiting the 11-province area that makes up the Vietnamese army's second military corps area. The various tribes are lumped together as Montagnards, a term coined by the former French rulers of Indochina.

Trouble For Americans

Observers here believed the rebellion could spell serious trouble for the Americans in Viet Nam.

Earlier, the disclosure of the bombings in Laos indicated the United States is moving to strengthen its position there as rapidly as possible.

The B52 raids were by no means the first U.S. bombings of Communist positions in the country. U.S. planes based in Thailand, in Viet Nam and on aircraft carriers in the South China Sea have struck repeatedly at the Communist supply corridor that runs through Laos's eastern mountains.

The decision to use the giant strategic bombers was prompted by increased Communist use of the Laotian corridor to infiltrate men and arms into South Viet Nam.

Air strikes by tactical warplanes had little effect on the road-building activities. The Communists could repair the damage caused by the smaller planes in a matter of hours.

Embargo On Oil For Rhodesia Backed By U.S.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — British Prime Minister Harold Wilson wound up his visit to the nation's capital today, bolstered by the Johnson administration's support of his embargo on oil shipments to Rhodesia.

Wilson was scheduled to fly to Philadelphia, where he planned to spend the night before going on to Ottawa Sunday to meet with Canadian Prime Minister Lester Pearson. He was to return to London later that day.

The flight was scheduled at 10:20 a.m. EST.

The rebel Rhodesian government was one of the topics in two days of talks which saw Wilson and Johnson discuss such issues as Viet Nam and Britain's defense plans.

Wilson pledged that as chairman of the Geneva Conference which dealt with the Vietnamese problem, he would make a new effort to find peace in Southeast Asia.

The British ban on oil shipments to the South African country was announced in London while Wilson was in an afternoon session Friday with Johnson and top U.S. officials.

It was the stiffest statement Wilson has yet ordered against the rebel government, which declared its independence from Britain Nov. 11.

While the United States imposed no oil embargo of its own, shortly after the British announcement the State Department advised U.S. companies to comply with the embargo.

East Pakistan Hurricane Kills Over 10,000

DACCA, Pakistan (UPI) — Authorities today attempted to restore communication with sections of East Pakistan where a hurricane killed more than 10,000 persons Tuesday.

Rescuers distributed food and medical aid to survivors of the storm which uprooted trees, smashed village huts and sent thousands fleeing for their lives along the 50-mile coastline south from Cox's Bazar to Teknaf.

The hurricane hit East Pakistan about 300 miles east of the mouth of the river Ganges.

Officials said most casualties occurred in the offshore islands which caught the full force of the storm's 140-mile-an-hour winds and were in the path of an accompanying tidal wave.

The storm was compared to the one last May which took more than 17,000 lives in the Barisal region of East Pakistan.

One provincial official estimated that more than 10,000 lives were lost on Maheshkhali, the largest of the offshore islands. Another report said there were an estimated 2,000 dead or missing on the island of Kutubdia, 20 miles off the coast.

Districting Job Can Be Finished Before Deadline

LANSING (UPI) — An optimistic note Friday signaled the end of six weeks of wrangling by the State Apportionment Commission over plans to create new House and Senate legislative districts.

Despite bitter words hurled during two consecutive hearing days, both the Democrat and Republican co-chairmen of the commission indicated they thought the districting job can be done by the court-set deadline of midnight Dec. 31.

"If we keep on working as we have been, I think our chances of reaching agreement are good," Richard Austin of Detroit, the Democratic co-chairman, said after the commission had adjourned until next Wednesday.

Former Gov. Wilber M. Brucker, the Republican co-chairman, emerged from the session smiling. "I'm not discouraged at all," he said. "I think we've traded some punches and traded a lot of things."

Action by the eight-man commission Friday centered around Republican attempts to box in their Democratic colleagues by blocking both ends of the apportionment spectrum.

Republicans submitted a new plan for the 110-seat House and 38-seat Senate that had a greater population spread among districts but that they claimed conformed more closely to the state Constitution.

They then turned around and challenged the Democrats to "buy" a straight-population plan offered Thursday by the Detroit Civic Searchlight "if you really are interested in 'one man, one vote.'"

Close To Boundaries
The new Republican plan, accompanied by a lengthy statement of principles, would create districts with a much wider variance in population but which would stick closely to county and municipal boundary lines.

Republicans claimed it would meet the order of the state Supreme Court to draw districts conforming to these standards in the Michigan Constitution and would also stand up under federal equal population stipulations.

"The reason for our lack of success is that we have been pursuing a will-o'-the-wisp," the four Republicans said. "Pursuit of so-called absolute equality of population is unreasonable. This is not what we were ordered to do."

"The Democratic members of this commission have completely ignored both the language of the order of the state Supreme Court remanding the matter to us, and the opinions of the justices who signed that order." Democrats immediately bristled under the jibe-Commissioner Henry J. Dongillo of Fountain said it was a "direct slam against me"—but they did not reject the plan fully.

"This is criticism," said Austin, "but it is constructive criticism of the kind that leads to agreement."

The crux of the Republican argument was that all attempts so far have been to make districts closer in population while trying at the same time to adhere to the anti-gerrymandering standards is "almost impossible" task. They went on to say districts could be made less equal and still fall within allowable variations.

Their new Senate plan would break only three county lines, and the House, 11; while the present "one man, one vote" plan breaks 15 in the Senate and 21 in the House. The population spread in the new House plan would be 5,620 compared with the current 3,082; and the new Senate plan would have a difference of 16,590 compared to the present 2,027.

Storm Leaves Foot Of Snow

By United Press International
A snow-laden storm front worked its way across the center of the nation's today, leaving as much as a foot of snow on the ground in some areas.

The snow front extended from northern New Mexico to Kansas and was expected to slip into Missouri by tonight. Heading eastward, the storm left more than 14 inches of snow on Flagstaff, Ariz., more than a foot in southeastern Colorado, and six inches in the northwestern corner of Kansas. The snow band included the Oklahoma and Texas panhandles.

South of the snow storm, rain pelted the Texas Gulf Coast and lighter showers hit areas ranging from Arizona to southern Mississippi.

Wintery temperatures prevailed over the northern half of the country. The only warm spot early today was Miami, Fla., reporting a 68.

Hanoi Peace Talk Bid Investigated

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States today awaited further word from North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh as to whether he is indeed "prepared to go anywhere to meet anyone" for peace talks.

That remark was attributed to Ho by two Italians who interviewed him in Hanoi last month. They said the North Vietnamese leader also was ready to begin talks without prior withdrawal of American forces from South Viet Nam, as he seemed to demand in the past.

The two Italians reported the interview to Italian Foreign Minister Amintore Fanfani, now president of the U.N. General Assembly. He reported it to the Johnson administration.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk wrote Fanfani seeking clarification, and Fanfani relayed Rusk's request to Hanoi.

There the matter rests. As one U.S. diplomat put it: "The ball is now in Hanoi's court." But few American officials had much hope it would lead to real peace moves.

The exchange was conducted in secret. It represented one of a constant stream of reports, often conflicting, reaching Washington from people in contact with Hanoi.

It was made public Friday by the State Department only because, officials said, it began to leak out in a way that implied the United States had rejected a new "peace bid" from Hanoi.

Officials said they were not sure it was a genuine peace bid. It was to determine this, and to leave open any possible peaceful avenue, that Rusk sought clarification. The official denied the United States rejected anything.

This was the sequence of events:
On Nov. 11 Dr. Georgin Lapira, former mayor of Florence and a primicerio of the University of Florence met in Hanoi with Ho Chi Minh and North Vietnamese Premier Pham Van Dong.

All Endurance Records Broken By Astronauts

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI) — Space champions Frank Borman and James Lovell came home for Christmas aboard Gemini 7 today in great shape and with a beautiful splashdown to cap their two-week space marathon.

They stepped aboard the flight deck of the aircraft carrier Wasp, walking a little stiff-legged after 13 days, 18 hours and 36 minutes cooped up in the confines of their small space capsule. But they were smiling and happy. Splashdown was 9:06 a. m. EST. They stepped aboard the carrier from a helicopter at 9:37 a. m. EST.

"Glad to be here. You don't know how glad we are," Borman said as he shook hands with ship's officers. His face split in a wide grin.

Bearded and "sort of cruddy," the men who captured every spaceflight endurance record in the book walked down a red carpet smiling, waving and patting each other on the back. They went directly to the ship's sick bay for examination as a brass band blared "Anchors Aweigh" and the ship's crew cheered.

Millions Watch
They wore their flight suits as they stepped from the helicopter that hauled them aboard and they walked with a slight forward lean as anyone might who had been in such cramped quarters for any length of time.

Lovell, darker than Borman, showed a heavier beard.

Live television from the carrier, beamed to the United States via the early bird satellite, let millions of Americans watch the arrival of the two space aces on the carrier.

The spacecraft, partially guided by the astronauts, undershot the target area in the Atlantic south of Bermuda by anywhere from 8 to 17 miles. Radar showed it 8 to 9 miles, visual sighting from 12 to 17 miles.

The outcome of a bet between Borman and Gemini 6 astronaut Walter Schirra remained in doubt. Schirra splashed down with Thomas Stafford about 13.6 miles from the carrier Thursday after their rendezvous with Gemini 7.

All problems aboard the spacecraft disappeared and the return to earth was a storybook re-entry.

Retro-rockets fired automatically at 8:28 a.m. EST 181 miles high over the Gilbert Islands in the Pacific and the astronauts began a fiery descent into earth's atmosphere. It was the end of their 206th orbit.

Sea Calm
A plane got a visual sighting of the capsule under its 84-foot parachute a minute before it hit the water. The weather was beautiful, the sea calm and the water a balmy 75 degrees in the splash area some 565 miles southwest of Bermuda.

The plane reported, "everything looks all right."

Gemini control said the craft "undershot" the target carrier by about 13.6 statute miles.

Swimmers were in the water within 10 minutes of splashdown to hook a flotation collar around the craft that was bobbing and rolling a bit.

Splashdown was a shade later than the timetable called for. At 9:05:36, mission control reported the craft down.

The main chute had opened on schedule at an altitude of two miles over the splashdown area.

Two Weeks Enough
Borman and Lovell helped guide the craft into its long glide through the 3,000-degree heat of re-entry caused by friction. The retro-rockets were fired automatically.

Borman immediately requested a helicopter pickup from the capsule. Neither he nor Lovell wanted to stay in that cramped capsule a minute longer than they had to after two weeks aloft.

The hatches were opened. Both spacemen got out of the craft and got into lifeboats that were inflated for them by the Navy swimmers. A harness was lowered and hoisted Borman and Lovell into the helicopter. They were aboard 22 minutes after splashdown.

Borman moved first into the lifeboat to await the helicopter pickup.

Lovell followed from the spaceship at 9:25 a.m. EST and he, too, stepped into the lifeboat.

The pilots gave all on hand a big "thumbs-up" sign that all was well. The swimmers swung the big hatches shut.

A few seconds past 9:27 a.m. EST, both men were safely aboard the helicopter and en route back to the deck of the Wasp.

"The astronauts are both in good condition," the crew aboard the recovery helicopter reported.

French Voters Expected To Pick de Gaulle

PARIS (UPI) — An estimated 28 million Frenchmen will vote Sunday to determine whether President Charles de Gaulle should be elected to a second seven-year term at the age of 75.

De Gaulle's opponent is Francois Mitterrand, 49-year-old veteran politician supported by the country's left-wing, including the Communists.

De Gaulle is expected to win, but the margin may be small. The latest public opinion polls indicated he would get about 55 per cent of the vote.

However, few observers were willing to rule out the possibility, albeit unlikely, that France might reject the aging general who was regarded as its savior in 1940 and 1958. The choice was between:

—The Gaullist view of a France protected by its own nuclear deterrent, seeking radical revision of the Western alliance, living in a tightly controlled economy and cooperating with its Common Market partners on its own terms, free from any supra-national control but heading for a loose European confederation.

—Mitterrand's program to abolish the country's nuclear force, to consult Washington about revisions in the alliance, to halt prestige projects and plow the money into social works and to press for European unity under a federal authority election by the peoples to the common Market and later widened.

Sunday's election became necessary when De Gaulle failed to win the majority in national voting earlier this month. Mitterrand won the right to oppose De Gaulle in a runoff by finishing second in the first election.

Jet Explodes; 2 Aboard Safe

BROOKLYN (UPI) — A two-place jet trainer from Dover Air Force Base, Del., exploded in mid-air over Brooklyn Friday night, but both occupants of the plane bailed out to safety.

The passenger in the plane suffered an apparent broken nose when he landed and was rushed to Foote Hospital in Jackson, about 20 miles away. He was identified as Lt. Joseph Liciveth.

Pilot of the T-33 trainer, Capt. John A. Schrandt, landed in some water and escaped injury.

Jackson County sheriff's deputies said the plane was "completely burned up." No explanation was given for the explosion.

The pilots phoned Jackson County authorities, who picked them up at a farm house near the crash site. The plane apparently came down in an open field.

After a few blocks, the bandits' car crashed into a utility pole and they came out shooting. One of the bullets shattered the windshield of the mayor's car, narrowly missing its occupants.

By that time, dozens of police, following Addonizio's instructions, arrived at the scene and captured the suspects. They were identified as Alvin Dickens, 29, and James W. a s h i n g t o n, 22, reportedly members of a Black Muslim organization.

Clerk's Prayers Please Council

Escanaba City Clerk Don Guindon tries to bring a special quality of timeliness and sincerity to the prayers he gives at meetings of the City Council twice each month.

When Mayor George Rusch, after the roll call, asks for the Council prayer, there is more than polite attention. For Clerk Guindon's prayers have a consistently high rating as inspirational messages, the Council and the audience agree.

"I write a new one for each Council meeting," said Guindon. "That means composing 24 prayers each year—but I don't mean that I don't have some help."

Prayers that are delivered at openings of Congress by clergy of the different faiths, and printed in the Congressional Record, are a source of inspiration, said the clerk.

"Then there are my own ideas that I work into the prayers—perhaps something to fit the season or the local situation and our community."

The prayer at the most recent meeting of the Council is an example — A Christmas Prayer:

"Eternal God, our Father, let us pray that strength and courage abundant be given to all who work for a world of reason and understanding; that the good that lies in every man's heart may day by day be magnified, that men will come to see more clearly not that which divides them, but that which unites them.

"May the true spirit of this Christmas Season—its joy, its beauty, its hope, and above all, its abiding faith may live among us; that the blessing of peace be ours, the peace to build and grow, to live in harmony and sympathy with others, and to plan for the future with confidence. Amen."

Guindon is a conscientiously practicing Christian who is devoted in support of his church. He is chairman of the Official Board of the Central Methodist Church of Escanaba and is certified as a Lay Speaker by the Detroit Conference of the Methodist Church.

The program of prayers at opening of Council sessions began at the suggestion of Atty. Robert E. LeMire of Escanaba when he was mayor of the city back in 1954.

For many years the prayers were given, with equally effective thought and inspiration, by George Harvey, who served as clerk before his promotion to the city managership.

Legion Plans Yule Baskets

Baskets full of Christmas cheer in the form of food, candy, nuts, fruit and other goodies will be packed at the Legion Club beginning at 7 p. m., Thursday, Dec. 23, and all will be in readiness for Christmas Eve pickup from 8 a. m. till noon, the Legion announces.

Chairman C. Elmer Olson said that members of the Legion and ladies of the Auxiliary will be on hand to do the work of bagging candy, nuts, and fruit, packing and tagging the baskets.

Dr. C. J. Corcoran will be in charge of the packing detail. The number of requests have been high this year and in many cases, where the family is large, sickness and unemployment spell out the need for help, the Legion reported.

Contributions have been somewhat slow in coming in and the Legion has asked for help to make the community project a success. A donation, large or small, will be a big help and greatly appreciated for the needy families, Chairman Olson said.

Bishop Noa Is Marking 73rd Birthday Today

Bishop Thomas L. Noa of the Catholic Diocese of Marquette marked his 73rd birthday today.

The week holds another anniversary for the Bishop, who begins the 50th year of his priesthood, Dec. 23.

Thomas Lawrence Noa was born Dec. 18, 1892 in Iron Mountain, the son of John and Magdalene Walczak Noa.

He was ordained in Lateran Basilica, in Rome, by Cardinal Pompili, Dec. 23, 1916.

He went to St. Stanislaus School in Ludington, to St. Francis Seminary, Milwaukee, and North American College in Rome.

The eighth Bishop of the Diocese, he is the first native son. Six Upper Peninsula natives have become Catholic bishops, to date, but five have served in such far flung places as Wuchang, China; Bahr-el Ghazal, Sudan; Puerto Rico; Prince Albert, Saskatchewan, and as close as Superior, Wis.

Bishop Noa returned to the Diocese from the Ecumenical Council in Rome, Dec. 9. He missed only a few of the 168 working sessions of Vatican II, over the past four years.

Mrs. Engdahl is the former Margaret L. Marcoe of Escanaba. They have three children and the family resides at 227 Ogden Ave.

Engdahl's promotion is the second from the Escanaba Post Office in recent years. The other promotion was that of Jack Loeffler to the Chicago regional office.

New Law Makes P.K.U. Test On Babies Mandatory

A routine test which has been performed at St. Francis Hospital on new-born infants and by the Delta-Menominee District Health Dept. for three-month-old children is now mandatory, according to a recent State Public Health act.

Dr. Mary Cretens, director of the local health department, said the law makes phenylketonuria testing (P. K. U. test) mandatory. Phenylketonuria involves an inborn error in metabolism, which if not detected causes mental retardation, Dr. Cretens said.

Public health officials estimate about one of every 5,000 babies has phenylketonuria.

The P. K. U. Test has received national-wide publicity in the past several years when it was discovered that if afflicted children are given a special diet early in life they can develop normally.

Hospital test procedure involves analysis of a blood sample taken from a prick in the baby's heel. Repeat testing using a urinalysis method is often done by family physicians or the health department.

Deer Food Cut Starts In U.P.

Again this winter Conservation Department chainsaw crews have started clear-cutting hardwoods in and near the poorer deer yards in the Escanaba District, which includes Delta, and Marquette counties and the west half of Alger.

Two and three-man teams equipped with chainsaws are dropping trees to furnish browse for deer, at the same time opening the forest floor to sunlight to stimulate regrowth of food species.

Last year over 600 acres were cut by sawyers and bulldozers, and over 300 acres the previous winter. Sites usually bear off-site or uncommercial stands which would otherwise not be cut.

These cuttings are small in individual acreage but are many in number and scattered through much of our poorest winter deer range. Such cuttings along with the regular commercial cuts on private and public lands, have done much to carry many of our deer through the severest parts of winter when other food is unavailable, says Joseph Vogt, district biologist of the department.

"Some of our better hunting successes this year came from areas near these range improvement cuttings: Northland, Arnold, and Watson," said Vogt.

The cuttings are approved and supervised by the following area foresters: Arne Melisa, Escanaba River State Forest; Clarence Limpert, Bay de Noc State Forest; and Gerald Rose, Michigan State Forest. Funds come from federal Accelerated Public Works program and state hunting license monies.

Hamelin, Allen Will Get Degrees At Tech Today

James P. Hamelin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hamelin, 1202 N. 16th St., and James M. Allen, son of Mrs. H. M. Allen, 1808 S. Fifth Ave., both of Escanaba, were to be candidates for Bachelor of Science degrees in civil engineering at Michigan Tech's first December commencement today.

Commencement speaker will be Dr. Carl Moyer, Tech's recently-appointed director of research. Less than a year ago, Dr. Moyer received national recognition for developments in the treatment of burns with a weak solution of silver nitrate.

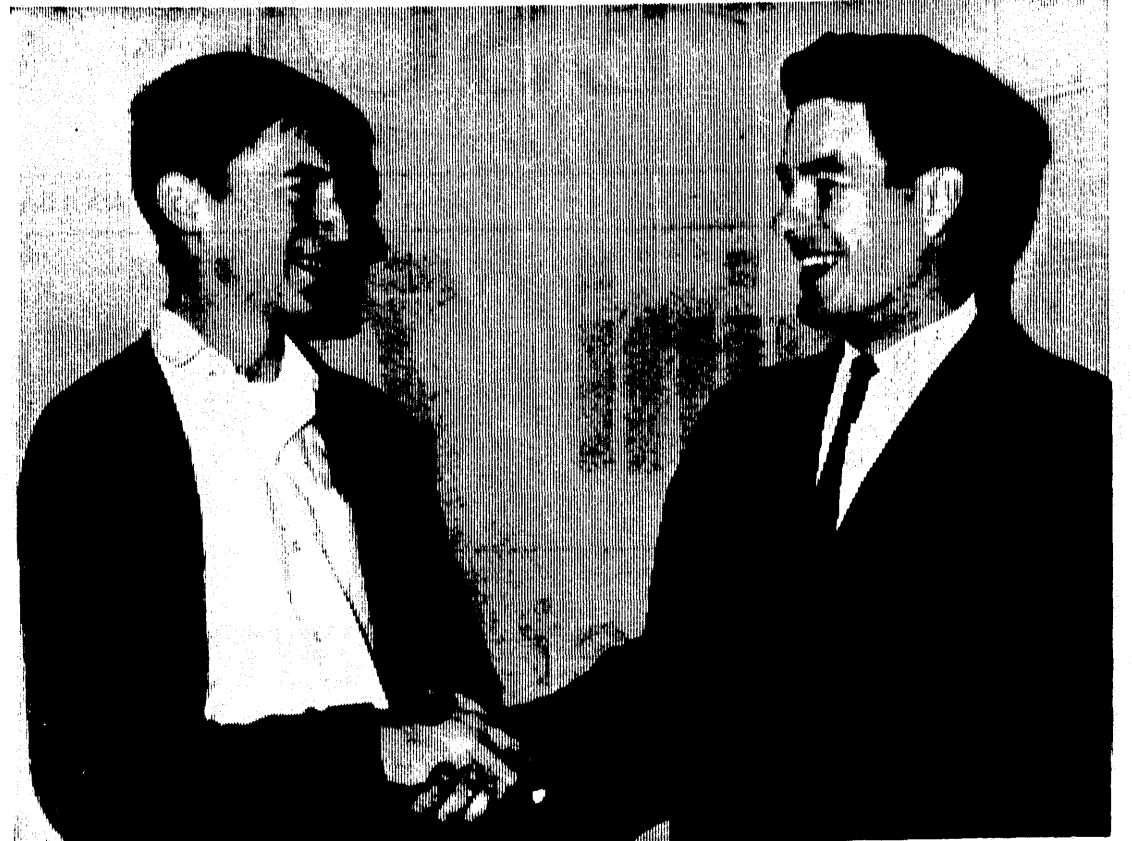

At Tech, Allen has been active in the American Society of Civil Engineers, the Athletic Board, the Varsity Club, the Glee Club and intramural sports. He was also all-star basketball Coach, earned two letters in Varsity Football and was listed in Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities in 1965.

After graduation he plans to work as a Field Service Engineer for Allis - Chalmers, Inc., Milwaukee, Wis.

Hamelin was a member at Tech of the American Society of Civil Engineers and played varsity softball.

Hobby Is Bugs, But He's An Automotive Whizbang

Mark V. Nelson, 16, a tall young man with a fine grin who's a junior at Rapid River High School, was Michigan's entry in the automotive mechanics project at the recent 4-H Club Congress in Chicago.

He's the son of Mr. and Mrs. Halmer Nelson of Ensign and his dad is a carpenter, not a mechanic, but Mark's interest turned to mechanics and he spent two years in a 4-H tractor maintenance project headed by Tony Nohawr of Ensign. Now he's in an auto mechanics project with William Pajnick and Herbert Sundberg as leaders, innovating a jeep.

Mark won the Delta 4-H honors in his project and went on to U. P. district championship and was an alternate at the state show at East Lansing in August to attend the National Congress at the Conrad Hilton in Chicago Nov. 27-Dec. 2. When the principal couldn't go Mark went to the Congress.

Other Michigan winners there from the U. P. were Karen Roman of Iron County, clothing; Joanne Niska, Ontonagon, home economics, and Richard Skog, Dickinson, achievement.

The members of the 4-H project at Ensign with Mark were Harry Sundberg, Dan Safford, David Norak, Tom Noval, Mike Rasmussen, Bob Gibbons and Donald Dominic.

Mark was the second state winner from Delta County in the past 5 years, the other being Dan Johnston, also of Ensign, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Johnston, who won in handicraft in 1962.

It was Mark's first trip to Chicago and he enjoyed the Congress (there were about as many girls as boys) and the tour immensely. His attendance was sponsored by the Firestone Rubber Co. He has grown up in Ensign, where the Nelson home is not far from the farm where his mother, the former Edna Johnson, grew up on the farm of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Johnson.

Mark has another year at Rapid River High and then plans two years at Bay de Noc Community College in Escanaba before going on to Northern Michigan University to major in electronics.

His sister, Connie, 20, a graduate of Rapid River High who was graduated from Bay de Noc College in 1963, is now at Northern. The other Nelson children are Andy, 23, in the Army in Germany; Carolyn, 13, Stephen, 5, and Stuart, 3.

Mark's hobby is entomology. "Just butterflies?"

"No, all kinds of insects," he says.

State Rewards

No wonder Governor Romney tried to persuade Gus Harrison to stay on as director of the Michigan Corrections Department after Harrison had submitted his resignation. Harrison is one of the nation's outstanding corrections officials, a man who set a remarkable record in the 12 years he headed Michigan's prison operations.

Now only 47, Harrison became acting director of the corrections department in 1953—the year after the notorious Jackson Prison riot. The prospects for a calm administration were not promising, yet in the next 12 years Gus Harrison not only achieved an administration calm and free from rioting and scandal, but he also presided over a quiet revolution in penology that moved Michigan into the front rank in progress in corrections.

Here are some of the innovations that came about under Harrison's direction:

1. Establishment of a reception center at Jackson Prison. Here inmates are sorted out according to their characteristics, the chronic criminals being separated from the first offenders, the mentally ill from the "normal."

2. A pre-parole camp, the first of its kind in the nation, to prepare men for the freedom they will soon enjoy. They are given help here in adjusting to parole, obtaining employment, etc.

3. A literacy program to teach unlettered inmates how to read and write.

4. The Michigan Training Unit at Ionia to educate and rehabilitate young offenders.

5. Refinements in the prison camp program, considered the best in the United States.

6. A new program announced last month whereby inmates not regarded as dangerous will be allowed to work at outside, or "civilian," jobs during the day, returning to prison at night. Wages earned by these prisoners will go toward support of their families.

7. Providing inmates with dental work and eyeglasses at no expense to taxpayers.

8. A reduction in the prison population, largely through enlightened parole practices. (At Marquette, for instance, the prison population last October stood at 705, the lowest since 1925.)

This is an illustrious record. But in spite of this brilliant achievement and although in the prime of his career, Harrison elected to step down as corrections director and accept the subordinate position as head of the corrections department's new Division of Field Services. Why?

Both positions pay $20,000 a year. But Harrison's lesser post offers the security of civil service and provides more fringe benefits.

While he was director, Harrison had several aides who got paid more than he did. (This is not the only instance of this kind in state government. The director of conservation receives less than some of his subordinates.)

This is a perverted state of affairs that prompted Gov. Romney to remark that Harrison's resignation was "a dramatic example of the greatest injustice in our state employment: Unclassified department heads who get less than their civil service subordinates, yet are expected to assume additional risks and responsibilities. It's an absolutely unconscionable situation."

This is one area of reform that was not attended in Michigan's recent governmental overhaul. Steps should be taken immediately to correct it.

Meanwhile, Gus Harrison's friends and associates regret that he no longer heads Michigan's corrections program, but they're pleased that he is still a part of that program. His advice and counsel should prove invaluable.

Sinus Haven

An item of information tossed out for the benefit of those planning somewhat extensive winter vacations: Ethiopian Airlines reports that statistics for 70 cities around the world show that Addis Ababa, capital of Ethiopia, has the lowest average humidity for the month of December. Its figure of 48 per cent even beats that of the well-known humidity haven, Phoenix, Ariz., which is 53 per cent.

You can even get 13 months of sunshine there—if you're willing to go along with the 13-month Julian calendar, as all Ethiopians do.

Abyssinia, jet setters.

Had To Happen

Speaking of "conspicuous consumption"—and what better season than this to speak of it—there's a new item on the market for that well-known man who has everything.

It's an electric fork, described as a gourmet's delight and a carver's catastrophe. Although designed to be a companion piece to the electric knife, the fork is guaranteed absolutely nonelectric.

When you plug it in, nothing happens. Sounds like just the thing to have on hand in case of a power failure.

Head Of AMC Predicts Boom

DETROIT (UPI) — American Motors Corp. President Roy A. Abernethy has joined with the Ford and General Motors to predict a repeat of the 1965 record year in auto production, when it was supposed to do, when it had to.

Abernethy, whose company's sales declined during 1965, added that his firm is "out after a bigger share."

The AMC head, speaking before the Economic Club of Detroit on "The Automaker's Challenge," said "I'm probably the best qualified man in Detroit to talk about challenge."

He said his company is approaching "its current challenge."

Only Chrysler Corp. has failed to come out with a prediction of a continuation of the auto boom.

In his talk Thursday, Abernethy backed the recent Federal Reserve Board discount rate hike, calling it a "natural evolutionary development flowing from the current state of the economy."

Melvin Ehnerd Still At It At 71

Harness Racing Veteran Home

Before World War I Escanaba had a thriving harness racing program which provided sport for thousands.

It's been dead for nearly a half century, but at least one of its horsemen is still following the business and loves it.

He's Melvin Ehnerd, who left Thursday for Westbury, N.Y., after visiting with his sister, Mary Alice Ehnerd, 405 S. 11th St., and attending the funeral of his brother, Harry Ehnerd.

Their father, Charles Ehnerd, was Escanaba's chief of police for a few years after coming here in 1888 from Wrightstown, Wis., but he is best remembered here for the meat market he operated in the 1000 Block on Ludington St. (in the Thyberg's Inc., building) and for his racing stable.

At the peak of his racing interest he had 14 horses here. He raced them at the old track near today's Al Ness Field and at the Delta County Fair track, where the U.P. State Fair track is today. He wintered his horses at his home at 405 S. 11th St., in barns that have been removed.

Started In 1903

Charles Ehnerd retired in 1928 and died in 1934. His interest in horses started with daily passing of a fine mare, Emma H., owned by a Ford River Lumber Co. man. Mr. Ehnerd bought the mare in 1903 and his interest in horses and harness racing developed and soon he had a large stable of pacers and trotters which he raced at fairs in Escanaba, Menominee, Manistique, Crystal Falls, Marquette, Ironwood and in Wisconsin at DePere, Oconto, Seymour, Oshkosh, and Beaver Dam in a season extending from July through October.

The purses were only $150 to $200 a race and there were three heats to run, but that was quite a bit of money in a time "when you could buy a wagon-load of groceries for $10," said Charles Ehnerd's son, Melvin. He was the horseman of Charles Ehnerd's sons.

Born in 1895 and nearing 71, he recalls riding his pony out to the south side track daily in the season and spending the day there, admiring his father's horses and those of Joe Hinn, the Walches, Dr. William J.

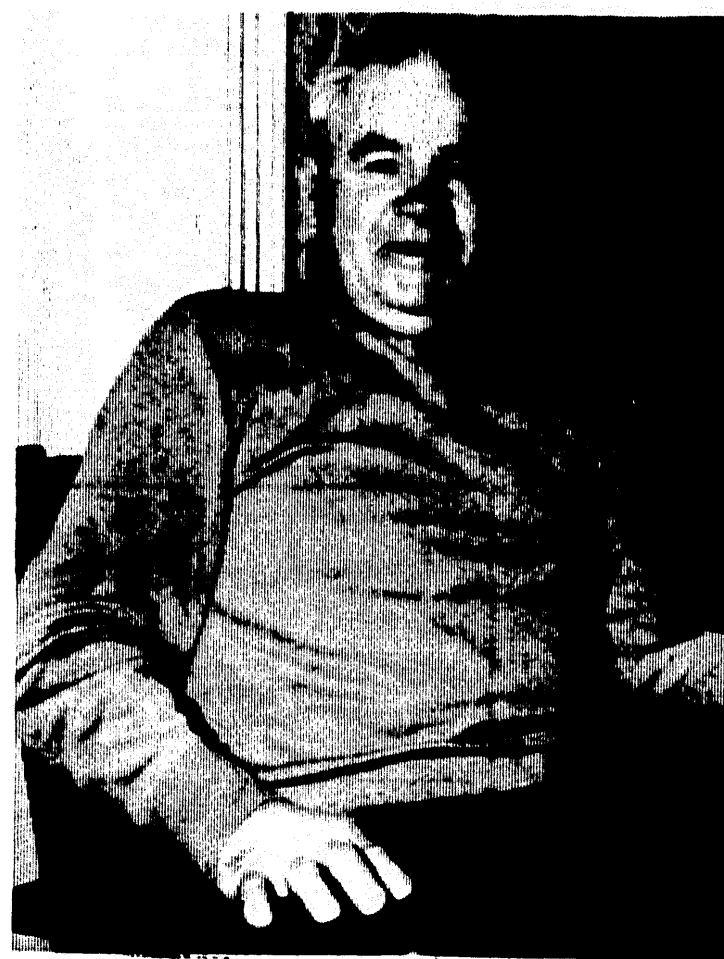

He is the trainer for the stable of Sacher Werner of New York City, who races his horses for four months each year on Roosevelt Raceway at Westbury, N.Y., and for four months at Yonkers, N.Y. at the old Empire Track.

The Roosevelt Raceway season is just ending and the Werner horses are moving to Pompano, Fla., for the winter racing season there. They'll return to New York in April to be part of the pool of 1,200 horses from which the racing program draws its entries for 8 races for crowds of from 20,000 to 35,000 who bet from $2 million to $2.5 million nightly at the pari-mutuel machines.

Faster Horses

Melvin Ehnerd started going to the fairs with the horses in 1908, when he was 13, racing the Ehnerd colors of yellow and dark green on the harness tracks. The family quit racing in 1929 but Melvin Ehnerd followed the circuit as a career, was a driver from 1918 until 1960, when impaired vision caused him to give up driving. He turned to horse training. That's his business now and he's distinguished at it.

He is the trainer for the stable of Sacher Werner of New York City, who races his horses for four months each year on Roosevelt Raceway at West-minutes, 9 seconds) on a half mile track, but the record for the mile now is 1:58 and on a good circuit the horses do it in 2:4. The pacers are a trifle faster than the trotters.

Breeding is so fine, said Ehnerd, that it's hardly necessary to train young horses; they learn harness control with a minimum of breaking and harness racing business grows yearly.

A groomsmen has two horses in his charge, works a horse four miles around the track the wrong way three days before it races, then the trainer works it a mile the right. It's jogged four miles on each of the next two days and raced on the fourth. There are no more heats, only one race and the horses give all.

Mrs. Ehnerd is the former Alvina Lied of Escanaba.

Does he bet on his horses? "Oh, sure," Ehnerd says, "you've got to bet your horses a little bit, you know."

Ann Landers

Just Take It As Compliment

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a man who has been married for 21 years. My mother always used to say, "It's the little things that break up marriages. People manage the big things somehow." She was so right.

My wife has a habit that drives me nuts. Whenever we go out for dinner she never orders salad or dessert. Her theme song is, "All I want is a small steak and a vegetable."

The minute my salad comes she puts her fork in it—"just to taste the dressing." If I don't pitch in fast I don't get any.

With the dessert, it's the same story. She'll say, "Herman, it looks so good. I'll just take a snide." Then she moves in for half or more.

This has been going on for 25 years. She knows I hate it but she does it anyway. If you can think of a solution you are a genius.—D. PRIVED

Dear D: The experts tell us that the desire to eat off the plate of another person is a sign of genuine affection. So, consider it a compliment and pray for another 25 years.

Dear Ann Landers: What do you do with a boss who throws things? I don't mean in a fit of temper or anything like that. He just throws things because he is too lazy to walk a few steps.

Instead of carrying the telephone directory to the stand he will leave it 15 feet. Often it lands on the filing cabinet but usually it hits the floor. One day I am afraid he will fracture my skull. This is entirely possible as we live in Dallas and our phone books are large and heavy.

The boss also throws staplers, appointment pads and other unbreakable items. Why does he throw things and is there any hope of curing him?—CONSTANTLY

DUCKING

Dear Duck: Your boss probably makes mind bets as to whether or not he's going to hit his target. Tell him you want to get in on the betting, too. If he hits you he owes you $20. (P.S. And no fair moving in the direction of the flying object.)

Dear Ann Landers: Next week our 19-year-old son enters the Air Force. To be truthful, I can hardly wait till the kid leaves.

The boy's father has never encouraged him to accomplish anything in school. He has always said "If you just get by, that's good enough, son. If you are too smart nobody will like you."

One thing the boy's father has encouraged is beer drinking. The two of them can sit down and put away eight steins apiece. They get loud and raucous but my husband insists they are not drunk because "beer is mild."

I hope and pray that the service will straighten our son out. Please print my letter. I'd like to put it in my husband's lunch pail.—BESSIE

Dear Bessie: Please don't expect the Air Force to perform miracles. It can only work with the material it gets. I have known instances where young men came out of military service vastly improved, however. And it may happen to your boy, so don't give up hoping.

Your husband has done his son no favor by encouraging beer-guzzling. Some alcoholics drink nothing but beer. (P.S. I hope your husband enjoys his lunch today.)

BARBS

By WALTER C. PARKES

A winter cold is nothing to sneeze at—especially among other people.

It almost seems as if trees and telephone poles are there to teach traffic safety lessons—the hard way.

A truly self-sacrificing woman can pass up anything—except a mirror.

Nope, things aren't like they used to be and that includes you.

Car Fire Ends Students' Trip

MANISTIQUE—Four Canadian students of Michigan Tech at Houghton were "engineering" a way home for Christmas today after their station wagon burned here.

Robert G. Jenkins, 24, a senior from Marmora, Ontario, wrote final examinations Friday at Tech and then left with three fellow students to motor to Ontario.

At 5:30 a. m. today on U. S. 2 three miles east of Gulliver a rear wheel bearing of their car caught fire and by the time the Manistique Public Safety Department truck arrived the vehicle has been destroyed by fire. The students saved their belongings.

Riding with Jenkins were Norman Davidson of Port Credit, Reginald Hancock of Toronto and Gary Rose of Sterling. Davidson and Sterling were planning to return to Tech today and go on from there, and Hancock and Rose planned to hitch-hike home.

In a fire at 7:40 a. m. a car owned by Warren Couto and parked in an Oak St. restaurant parking lot had its front interior damaged by fire. A cigarette was believed the cause.

Escanaban Helps Nation's Defense

TACOMA, Wash. — Master Sergeant Edith M. Kickbusch of Escanaba helps control the pulse of the two-nation aerospace defense system which guards the Pacific Northwest.

Sgt. Kickbusch, daughter of Mrs. Frieda L. Kickbusch of 314 S. 14th St., Escanaba, is a radar technician at North American Air Defense Command (NORAD) regional combat center at McChord AFB, Wash.

She is a member of one of the three joint U. S.-Canadian teams that maintain around-the-clock vigil at NORAD's 25th regional headquarters operations center. Her headquarters directs a unified organization of Royal Canadian Air Force and USAF personnel in addition to U. S. Army, National Guard and Air National Guard forces.

The combat operations center is the hub of an air defense network guarding more than 630,000 square miles—including a 1,200-mile coast—against air attack. It directs air defense missile, fighter interceptor and bomber operations to keep the NORAD component on constant alert.

Sergeant Kickbusch and her counterparts are on constant alert to locate and help establish the identity of objects in space as "friend or foe." This involves coordination with two subordinate sectors and computer-recorded Federal Aviation Agency flight plans. Their efficiency is subject to constant evaluation by training exercise invasion forces of Air Defense Command B-57 bombers.

When a flash message of "suspected" attack reaches the combat center from NORAD headquarters at Ent AFB, Colo., the sergeant and her companions are ready. Attacking forces are sighted by radar and the alarm sounds which sends jet interceptors aloft and air defense missiles above ground to meet the attack.

Sgt. Kickbusch helps relay and coordinate vital combat orders as directed by a battle staff at the center.

She is a graduate of Escanaba Senior High School.

Vaccination Of Calves Drops; Causes Concern

The number of dairy calves vaccinated in 1965 for brucellosis prevention is down 7 per cent compared to the same period (January-October) for 1964.

"Could it be that dairy farmers are getting careless because of the low incidence of the disease in recent years?" asks Joseph Heirman, Delta County Extension agent. "It is gratifying," he says "to receive monthly reports from the State Department of Agriculture that no herds are under quarantine because of infection from either brucellosis or tuberculosis in Delta County. We hope it stays that way. We dread to see any outbreak in even one herd because it is very contagious."

"We should be concerned because the decline in vaccinations is greater than the decline in cow numbers and we had never achieved a goal near 100 per cent vaccinated calves for herd replacements."

"Here in Delta County we should have 1,000 calves vaccinated every year. These heifer calves then would be available for herd replacements. No herd replacements should go without being vaccinated. Dairy men who are taking this type of a chance may run into serious problems, and could be wiped out."

"Calves should be vaccinated shortly after they are four months old and before eight months of age."

Wesley Hawley, Escanaba Church of Christ missionary who toured the South recently with Mrs. Hawley asking support for the church's work in the Upper Peninsula, said of his observations of the current race problem in the South:

"All of our Christian colleges are integrated. We saw many colored nationals in the student bodies."

"We observed colored people in most of the stores we were in on the trip."

"The Churches of Christ are on an integrated basis, with colored people welcome. They have had the experience that after attending for a while they stop coming, even though efforts were made to make them feel welcome. They seem to prefer their own churches."

"We saw only one place where there was a sign to indicate that integration was not permissible. The sign read 'Colored People Enter Here' or words to that effect."

"We saw colored and white children in school buses. We also saw many buses with all-colored or all-white children."

"It was not for so much agitation we would not have noticed anything regarding integration."

Wenner joins State Chain Stores Council

LANSING—E. A. Wenner, executive secretary of the National Union Association for the past two years, has resigned to become associated with the Michigan Chain Stores Council.

Roger N. Foerch, manager of the organization division of the Michigan Farm Bureau, succeeds Wenner.

Wenner will work with the agricultural interests of the state in his new position.

He is a graduate of Michigan State University and was employed with the extension department for 25 years, including the position of Delta county agricultural agent at Escanaba in the 1940's.

Later he was manager of the Michigan Animal Breeders Cooperative before joining the National Union Association.

Last Boat Tonight:

C&NW Will Top 6 Million Tons

The 690-foot ore carrier George M. Humphrey will arrive at the Chicago & North Western dock at Escanaba at 8:30 tonight to take on the last iron ore cargo of the season here.

Shipments for the year will total more than 6,000,000 tons, said L. A. McMillan, C&NW dock agent. This compares to 6,400,000 tons a year ago.

One of the largest ore boats on the Great Lakes, the Humphrey has a capacity of 23,200 tons and her commanding officer is Capt. W. E. Himmelroos.

"She will take about 21,000 tons of ore pellets from the Groveland mine," said McMillan. "Shortly before midnight she will clear for Detroit and the docks will be closed for this year."

Last year the ore shipping season also closed on Dec. 18.

McMillan had earlier described the 6 million tons for 1965 as a "good year" and noted the growing volume of pelletized ore as a significant development. Approximately one-half of the total ore tonnage leaving Escanaba for the smelters will be pelletized this year.

The movement of fuel oil to the terminals on Bay de Noc is continuing, at least for some companies. Tankers may come to the Standard Oil terminal up to the end of the month, depending on the weather.

Robert Haack, Standard Oil terminal superintendent, said the firm's tankers are equipped with "bow thrusters" to battle ice and "We will not close as long as the lake is open."

Paul Buchholz, terminal foreman for Shell Oil, expects a last boat next week.

Theisen-Clemens Oil Co. expects to run as late as possible.

Newspaper want ads are a big sell! Eight hundred million was spent on classified ads last year . . . more than for all television spot announcements or radio advertising.

'Oldest' Finnish Woman Hits 105

CHATHAM — Mrs. Loviisa (Louisa) Kamppinen, reportedly the oldest Finnish person in the world and believed to be the oldest resident of Michigan, will reach her 105th birthday Monday.

The occasion will be observed with special services at 2 p. m. in the Apostolic Lutheran Church, which Mrs. Kamppinen still attends whenever she is able.

Born Dec. 20, 1860, in Kau-

Mrs. Loviisa Kamppinen

hojoki, Finland. Mrs. Kamppinen came to the United States in 1899. She was well-known in her younger days as a midwife, delivering many babies in the Chatham-Eben area.

Though she has lost her sight and her hearing is no longer what it once was, Mrs. Kamppinen's memory is still good. In fact, she recalls events of a century ago when famine caused the deaths of thousands of persons during the period 1865-67.

She resides with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Leppanen. Her daughter, Saima, was the youngest of her nine children and is the only one still living.

Killings Start Grim Weekend

By United Press International
Death was off to a flying start on Michigan highways this weekend as at least nine persons were killed in the first hours of the 54-hour counting period.

Two double-fatality accidents, one in Kalamazoo County and one in Lansing, set the stage for a grim weekend.

Elaine Meyers, 54, and her 19-year-old daughter, Edith Ann, both of Kendall, were killed Friday night when their small foreign car was struck broadside at a county road intersection in Oshtemo Township of Kalamazoo County. The driver of the other car involved, Tony Murawski of Gobles, was hospitalized in Kalamazoo.

Walter David Moore Jr., 21, Battle Creek, and Barbara Mortonson, 22, Waterford, were killed Saturday morning when the car in which they were riding struck the rear of a truck on I 96 in Lansing.

An accident early Friday morning in Forsyth Township of Marquette County claimed the life of John Emil Pelkie, 58. That accident occurred on M-35. He was struck by a car.

Susan Scholle Marries Son Of Commerce Chief

DETROIT (UPI)—A union of labor and management will take place Saturday when the daughter of the president of the Michigan AFL-CIO and the son of the U.S. Secretary of Commerce will be married.

Susan Scholle, 21, daughter of August (Gus) Scholle, and John T. Connor Jr., 24, son of John T. Connor, former president of Merck & Co., a large pharmaceutical firm, will be married in a Roman Catholic ceremony at Most Holy Trinity Church by Rt. Rev. Msgr. Clement H. Kern, pastor of the parish and a long-time friend of the Scholle family.

Though both come from backgrounds at opposite ends of American industry, they have many similarities. Both are students at Harvard Law School and Phi Beta Kappa, she from the University of Michigan and he from Williams College.

Both are staunch Democrats and consider themselves liberals. They met at a New Jersey Democratic luncheon during the inauguration ceremonies for President Johnson.

Viet Cong Fire Terror Bombs

SAIGON (UPI)—Viet Cong terrorists exploded a grenade in front of an American officers' billet tonight in the fifth consecutive day of terrorism in the heart of Saigon. U.S. officials said "several Vietnamese" were injured.

The Viet Cong have sworn to take as many American lives as possible in observance of the fifth anniversary Monday of the National Liberation Front, the political arm of the Viet Cong. Tonight's explosion occurred despite massive security precautions.

The U.S. military had decreed a nightly curfew, from dusk to dawn, in expectation of such attacks. The Viet Cong have thrown bombs or hurled hand grenades almost every day this week and although there were few injuries the military was taking no chances.

Gift Ideas For The House

"Something for the home!" Time was when that was a risky notation on a Christmas list. Goodness knows what would be put under the tree. But now, everyone seems to be on a treasure hunt for the home. Objects given are likely to be less far off.

What's more, if you specify something rare, something unusual, something different you'll probably get it. Or a reasonable facsimile.

Here are some ideas, A-to-Z:

Andirons (old or reproductions), amberina glass (expensive and getting scarcer).

Bedspreads (especially Colonial woven type), bird cages, Victorian? (If you don't have a bird, hang one for planter).

Bamboo (Anything! Step Stool).

Candle molds (Make great sconces), convex mirror (just the thing for the Federal dining room), chandeliers (crystal for the French salon bit or try for Spanish metal or Mexican tin). Clocks (name your favorite clock maker), corner cupboard (indispensable in the Colonial room).

Dower chests (blankets to books storage), decays (great decoration for country homes), desks (old or new they flatter a room).

Eighteenth Century (take your choice of wonderful art objects art objects and furnishings for this wonderful period), eagles (they've "in" decoration for over doorways).

Furniture (Reproductions of these display cases for porcelain are found in many furniture lines). Victorian anything, (puts a little humor in a formal furniture setting).

Wedgwood (steeped in tradition, but lots of contemporary pieces available), what-not shelves (the popular place for curios in the Victorian era), wine coolers (use 'em for plants), weathervanes (for house or barn).

Xylographs (wood engravings can be different).

Yoke (Oxen yoke are finding their way into new or old homes. Suspend from a beam. Electrify. Or use for planters with the addition of pots).

Zebra (fake or real. It's a big yip in throw pillows, chair cushions, rugs), zabuton (Japanese floor cushions — just the thing for the tiny apartment).

Paintings (name your artist or trust to luck), pier mirrors (for a little entranceway?).

Quilts (patchwork or woven for traditional bedrooms), Queen Anne (take anything you can get — but it's all expensive).

Renaissance (14th to 17th Century piece that may be used with almost any decorative scheme).

Spool Bed (it will complement modern or traditional bedrooms), sculpture (name your Rodin! but be willing to accept a substitute), slip ware (pottery for collectors), scones (all styles to complement furnishings), samplers (at a price), spoon rack (for that Colonial kitchen), spice grinder (but don't be tempted to make a lamp out of it).

Tin (punched) lanterns reproductions look surprisingly authentic). Terry clock (an important piece for a good desk), tapestry (even a fragment of a tapestry can be framed for a pretty effect), tea caddy (easy on the budget).

Upholstery textiles (the just-right fabric for that important piece of furniture), urn stands (some old ones find their way from garden to house).

Vitrine (Reproductions of these display cases for porcelain are found in many furniture lines).

Lawyers Clear U. of M. Regent

ANN ARBOR (UPI)—A Detroit law firm said Friday University of Michigan Regent Eugene B. Power was not guilty of "conflict of interest."

The firm of Butzel, Daman, Long, Gust and Kennedy was hired by the university to issue an opinion of whether Power was guilty of conflict of interest due to his office as president of University Microfilm, Inc., a private company which has had business relationships with the school since 1938.

President Harlan Hatcher read the result of the attorneys' study at the regular meeting of the Board of Regents Friday.

He said the regents' materials and the opinion of counsel will be handed over to the governor and attorney general, who are conducting their own investigation.

The accusation of conflict of interest was first brought out by the Michigan Daily, the student newspaper, last October.

The counsel's opinion stated, "It cannot fairly and within reason be said that Regent Mr. Eugene B. Power at the present time has or during the period of his holding the office (of regent) since Jan. 1, 1956, had a conflict of interest."

The law firm said there was neither a "substantial" conflict, nor was there a conflict under the provisions of Act 107 of 1973, "if that act today applies to a regent of the university."

Women's Activities Old World Recipes Spark Holiday Table

By JANET MARTIN

Luscious aromas wafting from the kitchen are a sure sign that holiday goodies are in the making. Cakes, cookies, candies, breads — all the wonderful Christmas delicacies are as much a part of Christmas as Santa Claus or Christmas trees.

Although there is an endless repertoire of Yule recipes, I have had several requests for specific ones. So, together with contributions from Mrs. I. R. Nelson of Bark River and Mrs. Albert Weldon of Rock I have put together a potpourri of holiday recipes, featuring several nationality favorites from the area.

Christmas breads are always appealing and wonderful to have on hand when company drops by so frequently during the holiday season. This first one features mixed candied fruit and was sent in by Mrs. Joseph Chouinard of Escanaba Rte. 1.

HOLIDAY BREAD

1 package of yeast plus 1/2 c. warm water
1 c. milk scalded
1/2 c. butter
3 tbs. sugar
5 cups flour (about)
1 tsp. salt
2 whole eggs
2 egg yolks
1 tsp. vanilla
1 c. raisins
1 cup or so chopped nuts
bits of candied fruit (or mixed candied fruit)

Stir the yeast in warm water and set aside; add butter and sugar to scalded milk and cool to lukewarm; beat in half the flour and yeast; salt as desired; beat eggs and egg yolks together and add to batter; add the rest of the flour carefully, just enough to make a soft dough that is easily handled; add vanilla, raisins and nuts; allow to rest for a few minutes, then knead for 5 minutes. Place in a greased bowl, cover to raise. When dough is very light, about 45 minutes, punch down and roll on a floured board. Cut to 9 long strips; braid 4 middle pieces on a buttered cookie sheet; then braid 3 strips and lay on top of first 4. Braid 2 end pieces and lay on top. Let raise for a good half hour or until very light. Bake at 350 degrees for 40 minutes or till well browned. Frost with powdered sugar icing if you like it sweeter.

Another favorite of the holiday season and especially this year one that seems to be very much in demand is cranberry bread. The combination of orange juice and lemon juice in this recipe gives the bread a delightful fruity flavor and chopped pecans add a nice crunchiness to the texture. This Festive Cranberry Bread or any of the holiday makings would also make a thoughtful gift for the holidays. Gifts made by hand are always appreciated most.

FESTIVE CRANBERRY BREAD

2 1/2 cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 1/4 cups sugar
1 egg, slightly beaten
1/2 cup orange juice
1/3 cup RealLemon bottled lemon juice
2 tablespoons melted shortening
1 1/2 cups cut cranberries
1/2 cup chopped nuts

Sift together flour, baking powder, baking soda and salt; mix in sugar. Combine beaten egg, orange juice, bottled lemon juice and melted shortening. Add liquid ingredients to dry ingredients. Stir only until dry ingredients are moistened. Fold in cranberries and nuts. Pour into a greased 9 x 5-inch loaf pan. Bake in a 350 degree oven about 1 1/4 hours, or until done.

Fun to make, delectable to eat and perfect for visitors to take home after a holiday visit are Molasses Cookie Men. The cookie men, decorated with white frosting, are a conversation piece hung on the Christmas tree or presented as a yuletide gift.

MOLASSES COOKIE MEN

4 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking soda
2 teaspoons baking powder
2 teaspoons ginger
1 teaspoon cloves
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon nutmeg
1 cup shortening
1 cup sugar
1 cup molasses
2 eggs, separated

Sift flour with salt, baking soda, baking powder and spices. Cream shortening; add sugar gradually and beat until fluffy. Add molasses and egg yolks. (Reserve egg white for frosting). Mix well. Thoroughly mix in flour mixture. Wrap dough in waxed paper and chill until dough can be easily handled (at least 2-3 hours).

Roll out small portions of dough about 1/4-inch thick on lightly floured board or pastry cloth. Cut with an 8-inch gingerbread man cutter. Place on ungreased baking sheets. (If you prefer, roll dough out on waxed paper, cut and invert cookies on baking sheet).

Insert a small piece of toothpick in the top of each cookie. (This will form the hole through which string for hanging from Christmas tree branch will run). Bake in moderate oven, 300 degrees F. about 10-12 minutes. Remove from oven. Cool about 2 minutes before removing from the baking sheet. Cool completely. Frost. Makes about 16 8-inch cookies.

Spicy and nice are these yeast-raised cookies flavored with chopped crystallized ginger and a hint of lemon. They're made from a refrigerator type dough which is cut into bells with a cookie cutter. Decorated with sugar frosting. Ginger Bells are a nice addition to the array of holiday goodies. For gifts, heap them into an inexpensive apothecary jar.

GINGER BELLS

Makes 36 cookies
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup (1/2 stick) margarine
1 cup warm water (105-115 degrees F.)
1 package or cake yeast, active dry or compressed
1 c. warm water (105-115 degrees F.)
1 egg
1 1/2 teaspoons grated lemon peel
1/3 cup chopped crystallized ginger
1/4 cups currants
2 cups unsifted flour
Confectioners' sugar icing (optional)

Scald milk; stir in sugar, salt and margarine; cool to lukewarm. Measure warm water into large warm bowl. Sprinkle or crumble in yeast; stir until dissolved. Stir in lukewarm milk mixture, egg, grated lemon peel, chopped ginger, currants and half the flour. Stir in remaining flour to make a stiff batter. Cover tightly with wax paper or aluminum foil. Refrigerate dough at least 2 hours.

On a light floured board, roll dough out to an 18 x 13-inch oblong. Cut out bells using a bell-shaped cookie cutter about 2 1/2 inches long; place bells on greased baking sheet. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, about 1/2 hour. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) about 5 to 7 minutes or until done. Remove from baking sheets. Let cool. If desired, decorate with confectioners' sugar frosting.

Mrs. William Nelson of Powers sends this recipe for Danish Appel Cake which came from her mother-in-law, the late Mrs. James Nelson Sr., who substituted Holland Rusk for bread crumbs in the ingredients.

ABELKA

2 cups bread crumbs
1/2 c. sugar
1/2 c. melted butter
3 cups thick sweetened applesauce
1 cup whipping cream

Method: 1. Combine crumbs and sugar, melt butter. Add crumb mixture, heat at low temperature until light golden brown stirring often. 2. Butter a deep 1 1/2 pint bowl. Make layer of 1/2 c. crumbs. Follow with layer of applesauce. Repeat until crumbs and sauce are used, ending with layer of crumbs. Press each layer together. Chill for 24 hours. 3. Unmold on serving plate, frost with whipped cream. Slice to serve.

From Mrs. Julia Letendre of Powers comes this German cake which is similar to "Stollen".

A BA BA RUM CAKE

1 yeast cake softened in 1/4 c. warm water
Add: 1/4 c. milk scalded and cooled
1/4 c. soft shortening
1/4 c. white sugar

Victory No. 200 For Coach Guss Lord

Eagles Crush Esky For Sixth Triumph

The Stephenson Eagles had a memorable night at the expense of the Escanaba Eskymos here Friday while crushing Coach Harold Johnson's quint, 72-48.

Here's what the highly regarded Menominee County team accomplished:

- 1 - Ran its victory string to six games.
- 2 - Closed out its pre-holiday schedule without a defeat.
- 3 - Solidified its first place position in the new Great Northern Conference.
- 4 - Gave Coach Guss Lord his 200th triumph in an 18 year coaching career at Ontonagon and Stephenson.

After the first four minutes of action, it was strictly no contest. The Eagles sprang to an 8-7 lead to score 12 straight points for a 20-7 cushion at the close of the first quarter. They added seven more points in the second period before the Eskymos added a free throw, then led 43-17 at halftime.

Dave Bush, 5 foot 9 inch guard, gave the fans a convincing demonstration of "instant points" with a deadly outside shot to lead the visitors in the first half. Bush flicked in eight field goals and four free throws for 20 points in the first two quarters. He finished with 26 for the night, his best scoring output this season.

Ron Frederiksen used his 6 foot 7 inch height to dominate the action around the boards, blocking Eskymo shots on defense and grabbing a flock of rebounds along with Irv Krangel and Bruce Weng, a hard working junior forward.

Stephenson shot at a blazing 48 per cent in the first half, spreading the nets on 17 of 35 shots.

Johnson, who had started Paul Miller and Jim Boyle at Forward, Dave Nyquist at center and Steve Oman and Rick Kutchenberg at guards, played the entire second half with reserves.

Jack Long, Bob Myrvall, and Larson, Bob Myrvall, and Bob Schmeling went the distance in the third and fourth quarters and contributed 31 of Escanaba's 48 point total. Stephenson, using reserves for most of the second half, fell off to a 29 point production but was never in any danger. The Eagles built their lead to 35 points at one stage, 53-18.

The defeat was the third straight after two opening victories for Escanaba. The Eskymos are idle until Jan. 4 when they host Iron Mountain. Stephenson gets back into action Jan. 7 in a home stand against Gladstone.

Following Bush in the scoring column for Stephenson was Weng, a 6 foot junior, with 18 points while Bob Mellinger, Bush's running mate at guard, popped in 13.

Myrvall was the only Eskymo player to reach double scoring figures with a dozen points. He joined with Larson and Irish to give the Eagles a battle on the boards in the second half. Stephenson lost Krangel on personal fouls with 3:14 remaining in the third period.

The Eskymo jayvees won the preliminary game, 45-44.

Summers Paces 'Cat Scorers, Yago Is Third

MARQUETTE — Gene Summers, Northern Michigan University's Little All-America basketball center, has started the 1965-66 campaign exactly as he finished last season: leading the Wildcats in scoring and rebounding.

While Northern won three of its first five games, Summers faced 137 points, an average of 27.4 per game.

That's a bit better than his 26.7 average of last season when the husky 6'4" senior scored 668 points in 25 games. Last year his 27.1 field goals, 126 free throws, total points and game average all set University single-season records.

Big Gene (Flint Norton) just missed the single-season rebound record a year ago, gathering in 330, just six shy of the mark. That's better than 13 per ball game. In five games this season he has 52, an average of 10.4 per game, somewhat under last season's pace.

Classy 6'2" junior guard Brian Ferguson (Lansing Sexton) is providing Northern with a potent one-two scoring punch, hitting 115 points in five games, a 23.0 average. Ferguson was the top point producer in the Wyoming game with 27. He has 34 rebounds.

Right behind Summers in rebounding is 6'5" junior forward Con Yagodzinski (Escanaba Holy Name) with 50, averaging an even 10 per game. "Yago" ranks third in scoring with 76 points.

Forward Dave Kovack (Westville, Ill.), a 6'3" sophomore, is third in rebounding with 40 and fourth in scoring with 65 points.

Con Yagodzinski

One point behind Kovack in scoring is 5'11" junior guard Bill Koski (Champion) with 64 points. The Wildcat playmaker, Koski has 22 rebounds.

All five Northern starters are averaging in double figures in the scoring column, ranging from Summers' 27.4 to Koski's 12.8.

Northern, idle until January 10, has defeated Calvin College 118-87, Central Michigan 111-91, and St. Norbert College 108-88, while losing to Bradley 90-78 and Wyoming 112-105.

All games except Central, were away from home.

Emeralds by one field goal, 27 to 26, but was able to add only six free throws from 14 attempts.

Jimmy Peters To Join Wings

DETROIT (UPI)—The Detroit Red Wings have announced that 21-year-old Jimmy Peters, Jr., whose father played three seasons for the Wings, will join the team Saturday night for his professional debut before a home-town crowd.

Peters, only the third native Detroit to play with the Wings, was called up from the Memphis farm club by General Manager Coach Sid Abel after several starters were sidelined by injuries.

Playing at center, Peters has scored 10 goals and 14 assists in 22 games for the Memphis Wings in the Central Professional Hockey League. He is currently second in the league in scoring. He played one game with the Wings last season on an amateur tryout and scored an assist.

The only other Detroit athlete to play for the Wings were Pat Rupp, who played one game as a goalie two years ago, and Carl Wetzell, also a goalie, who was the backup man for Rookie of the Year Roger Crozier last year.

Myrvall was the only Eskymo player to reach double scoring figures with a dozen points.

He joined with Larson and Irish to give the Eagles a battle on the boards in the second half. Stephenson lost Krangel on personal fouls with 3:14 remaining in the third period.

The Eskymo jayvees won the preliminary game, 45-44.

Santa and the Zabbazara Bus

BY LUCRECE BEALE

Synopsis: The travelers get to Zabbazara. The Princess tells them she cannot help them because the Voodoo man has a magic greater than her own.

CHAPTER TWELVE MR. D'S PLAN

The beautiful Princess of Zabbazara had tears in her eyes as she explained to Santa Claus that she did not have the power to break the spell the Voodoo man had cast over Santa Land. "Oh, my," moaned Mr. D. "To think there'll never be Christmas again! How can he do such a thing?"

"He has a secret power," said the Princess. "He is using it to get rid of all happy spirits and all good fairies. He wants to be king of all Fairyland and not even Zabbazara will escape."

The little lost boy couldn't stand to see the Princess cry. "Don't worry!" he blurted out. "We will protect you. Won't we, Santa? Won't we, Mr. D?"

Santa shook his head helplessly. Mr. D. said, "Of course!" He flapped his ears with excitement. "I'm not afraid of that old Voodoo man!"

"You are right not to be afraid of him," said the Princess. "He has no power over real life people. But you can't stop him from casting his spells over fairyland creatures."

"We could find out his secret!" exclaimed the boy. "Sure," said Mr. D. "I've heard a lot of secrets in my time. Folks like to tell bus drivers their secrets."

All this time Santa had been standing there not saying anything but just thinking and worrying about the awful power of the Voodoo man. Now he said, "We've got to find out what his secret is. Maybe they can do it."

The Princess took the little boy's hands in hers. "Oh, could you?" she cried. The little boy felt 10 feet tall. "We've GOT to do it!" he said. And Mr. D. said, "Come on, boy, let's get back to the bus and find the Voodoo man."

But, alas, the Voodoo man had already found them. A crowd of children burst into the palace crying. "Someone's coming! A black-cloaked creature is on his way!"

They rushed out of the palace and down to the edge of the sea. Far away they saw the Voodoo man holding a black balloon. He was just taking off from the distant shore. "Get back!" cried the Princess to the waiting children. "Go quickly and hide!"

The children looked at her in astonishment. They could not understand why she was so afraid. Nevertheless they did as they were told. Then Santa said, "We must hide, too."

But the Princess said, "It's no use. He will find us wherever we are. Oh, the poor children! Whatever will become of them?"

Suddenly Mr. D's ears began to wiggle. Whenever he had an idea his ears flapped wildly. He put both hands over his ears to still them and then he burst out:

"Change clothes!" "WHAT?" "Change clothes! I'll be Santa Claus and the boy will be the Princess. The Voodoo man's power won't work on us, and you two will be safe!"

"But you don't have whiskers!" protested Santa. "And you're thin. I'm fat!" "And how can I be a girl?" scoffed the boy. "I don't look anything like a girl!"

But the Princess said "I still have some power. I can provide whisks and whiskers and such. We must try it. It's our only chance!"

POINSETTIAS AND PUPPY DOGS

Sunday	Monday	Tuesday	Wednesday	Thursday	Friday	Saturday
Isaiah 40:27-31	Isaiah 55:1-9	Matthew 2:1-12	Matthew 11:25-30	Luke 10:38-42	John 1:9-18	Galatians 4:1-7

Poinsettias for Grandmother, a puppy for brother Joe, stationery is perfect for Aunt Sue.

"Tis the season to be jolly," carol the loudspeakers in the department stores, but each year it becomes harder. Days are frantic with shopping, wrapping, and addressing. There's too much to do, too many things to remember; Sally's school play, a white elephant for Joe's Scout party, the Kirby's gala on the twenty-second.

There's no time for thinking, but sometimes late at night; a moment for reflection. In the rush of doing all the right things have we forgotten our reasons for doing them? Have we come bearing gifts, like the Magi, with hearts empty of the wonder and awe that was theirs?

Perhaps we need to hear anew the age-old story of a tiny Babe wrapped and gently laid in a manger while shepherds quaked and angels sang. The door of your Church stands open. Worship there the newborn King this Christmas and every Sunday.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake, (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sake of his community and nation, (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.
